2018 AWARD RECIPIENTS

SENATOR MURRAY SINCLAIR, was the first Aboriginal Judge appointed in Manitoba (and Canada's second), where he served the justice system for over 25 years. He served as Co-Chair of the Aboriginal Justice Inquiry in Manitoba and as Chief Commissioner of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission (TRC). As head of the TRC, he participated in hundreds of hearings across Canada, culminating in the issuance of the TRC's report in 2015.

GRAFTON AND EILEEN ANTONE, Heart & Vision's first award recipient couple, are elders of the Oneida Nation. They will be recognized for their tireless efforts in mentoring First Nations' youth, the preservation and teaching of First Nations' culture and language, and the establishment and operation of the social and spiritual ministry of the Toronto Urban Native Ministry.

FEATURING:

Jackie Richardson

Drew Hayden Taylor

The Young Creek
Performers
First Nations dancers and drummers

Our Host, Drew Hayden Taylor, an Ojibway from the Curve Lake First Nations, has worn many hats in his literary career, from stand-up comedian to Artistic Director of Canada's premiere Native theatre company, Native Earth Performing Arts. He is an award-winning playwright, journalist/columnist, short-story writer, novelist, television scriptwriter, and has worked on over 17 documentaries exploring the Native experience. His work educates and informs the world about issues that reflect, celebrate, and interfere in the lives of Canada's First Nations.

Heart & Vision proceeds support Toronto United Church Council's Community Relief Fund.

The Community Relief Fund helps congregations transform church space to meet the needs of the most vulnerable in our communities. This means retrofitting church halls for hot meal and out-of-the-cold programs, supplying appliances for food banks, and providing property for innovative social housing initiatives. Since 1892 the Toronto United Church Council's Community Relief Fund has funded life-changing community outreach ministries.
